

Carantouan Greenway to Host Program on The Birds of Iceland

Carantouan Greenway invites the public to attend their annual dinner meeting on Wednesday, April 3, 2019. The featured speakers will be Marie Read and Bob McGuire, who will present “Icelandic Saga”. Marie and Bob spent a combined total of three weeks this past summer photographing and recording the birds of Iceland. Join them for a tour of this exotic land: the remote highlands, seabird cliffs, and offshore islands. Lots of Puffins, too!

Marie Read is a professional wildlife photographer and author, based in Freeville NY, who specializes in birds and their behavior. Her images are published worldwide in magazines, books, and calendars, and she has authored many articles as well as several books. Her latest book, “Mastering Bird Photography” is available as an e-book and in print in March 2019.

Bob McGuire is a former president of the Cayuga Bird Club and editor of “Birding the Cayuga Lake Basin”. An avid birder and sound recordist, he has contributed over 4,500 recordings to the Cornell Lab of Ornithology’s Macaulay Library. His personal collection includes the vocalizations of 600 North American birds.

Where: Tomasso's Restaurant, Waverly, NY

Date: Wednesday April 3, 2019

Time: cash bar 6-6:30, followed by dinner & brief business meeting. Program starts at 7:30.

Cost: The cost for the evening is $25.

RSVP: Interested persons may sign up on our website,

www.carantouangreenway.org/annualmeeting.html

Or by calling Jim Daly at 607-742-8309 (please leave a message).

Carantouan Greenway, a non-profit Land Trust and environmental organization, is a member agency of the Waverly Community Chest. To learn more visit:

www.carantouangreenway.org